Human and Animal Ethics Management

ResearchMaster's comprehensive Ethics Management System provides a complete solution for tracking and managing all of your ethics related information.

Manage all of your human, animal and biosafety applications, reviews, approvals, and renewals digitally through online forms and workflows that are easily configured to suit your business requirements. Eliminate paper forms and allow researchers and reviewers to access the applications from anywhere, fully tracking any changes to the applications over time.

Online Applications

Simplify the ethics application process by designing smart forms that ask the right questions based on the answers provided, and include mandatory questions so that you capture all of the information from the first submission. Save time by allowing applicants to submit amendments and renewals for all of their existing applications.

Human Ethics

Capture and track all your human ethics clearance requirements, including conditions of approval and outcomes. Automatically route the applications through different review and approval paths based on whether the application is deemed to be low or high risk. Link to related projects and contracts and send automated reminder emails and notifications.

Reviews and Approvals

Allocate applications to individual reviewers, panels and committees so they can review and provide approval to applications online. Set up committee and executive review meetings, facilitate online pre-meeting committee reviews, and report on all review activities and outcomes.

Animal Ethics

Capture and track all your projects' animal ethics clearance requirements, including details on the 3Rs (Replacement, Reduction and Refinement) through mandatory questions. Record animal details including numbers, genders, procedures, proposed usage and disposal methods, along with the involved personnel expertise, licence and training details.
